

2009 PLANTAGENET
HAZARD HILL
SEMILLON SAUVIGNON BLANC
Review History

90 pts - Best of the Best by Variety “A bright and fragrant bouquet is a promising start, and the citrus and tropical palate does not disappoint; finishes with refreshing lemony acidity.”

James Halliday
Australian Wine Companion
2011

88 pts “Blended of Pemberton, Great Southern and Blackwood Valley fruit and composed of 68% Sauvignon, 32% Semillon, the 2009 Hazard Hill Sauvignon Blanc Semillon has intense grass and straw aromas with lemon and grapefruit, some melon and under-ripe pear. With nice texture and good mid-palate weight plus medium to high acid this light to medium bodied wine has a long finish.”
