Background

The High Trellis Paddock has been producing grapes since the late nineteenth century. Nicknamed "The High Trellis" as its vines were the first at d'Arenberg to be trained above knee height in the 1890's. Over the past four decades Cabernet Sauvignon from the High Trellis Paddock has been released under the d'Arenberg label to consistent critical acclaim.

Tasting Notes

As a young wine, the cabernet sauvignon from d'Arenberg's High Trellis paddock has a dense crimson red color with purple tinges. The High Trellis has a typical young cabernet sauvignon attack on the nose; lifted mint and capsicum cabernet edges above a rich, ripe blackberry, plum and liquorice base.

On the tongue, mouth filling sweet blackberries, plums and blackcurrant flavors are highlighted by the rich, strong mid palate. Mulberry-like fruit continues from the mid palate balanced by finely structured and firm fruit and oak tannin on the typically long, fresh young tangy finish.

The hallmarks of The High Trellis Cabernet Sauvignon are a soft, rich middle palate, terrific texture and a long rolling finish, all of which can reside with this wine for a number of years, even decades, as more than four decades of previous vintages have shown.
