

2004 d'ARENBERG STICKS AND STONES

Review Summary

91 pts “Deep ruby. A complex bouquet of blackberry jam, candied licorice, cured tobacco, fudge and espresso. Very sweet and lush, with a confectionery tone to the dark berry flavors and a suave, velvety texture. Firms up on the finish but maintains impressive sweetness. This would compare nicely to most new-wave Spanish wines, but here the oak is more successfully integrated here than in many newfangled Iberian examples.”

93 pts “Here the tangy notes of tempranillo are the leaders, and not overtaken by Grenache; does have good texture, structure and finish.”
