

2011 PLANTAGENET
OMRAH UNOAKED CHARDONNAY
Review Summary

90 pts “Bright, light straw-green; Plantagenet was one of the pioneers with quality unoaked chardonnay; this is a deliciously juicy mix of grapefruit and passionfruit, the finish long and clean.”

James Halliday
Australian Wine Companion
2013

89 pts – EDITOR’S CHOICE “One of the best unoaked Aussie Chardonnays I’ve come across, this is surprisingly full bodied and lush, boasting ample pineapple and peach fruit. If it lacks a bit of texture and complexity for not having any oak, the price more than compensates. Drink it over the next several months.”

Joe Czerwinski
Wine Enthusiast
September 2013

88 pts “Crisp in texture, this white shows spicy pear and quince flavors that ride easily over the refined acidity to a vivid finish.”

Harvey Steiman
Wine Spectator
August 31, 2013

88 pts “Light yellow. Orange, melon and pear aromas are lifted by ginger and floral nuances. Dry, clean and focused, with lively flavors of orange, honeydew and spices. Shows good heft and finishes with firm grip, suave floral notes and persistent spiciness.”

Josh Raynolds
Stephen Tanzer’s International Wine Cellar
July/August 2012