VINEYARD:

The grapes for the Reserva Carmenère come from twelve-year-old vines from Chilensis' estate San Rafael vineyard on the Maule Valley (162 miles south of Santiago and 12.5 miles from the Andes Mountains range). The valley is geographically diverse, with a Mediterranean climate. Summers are warm and dry with a significant day-night temperature variation. Winters are cold and rainy. Most of the vineyard's alluvial soils are loam to clay-loam in texture with a moderate fertility. Vigilant canopy management and cluster thinning during the growing season led to a yield of just under four tons per acre.

WINEMAKING:

The grapes were hand-picked the second week of May and then immediately sorted at the winery. The fruit was gently de-stemmed to ensure only minimal breakage of the berries. The grapes were cold macerated for three days followed by a warm ferment for 18-22 days and punch downs took place twice daily. 60% of the wine was then aged for ten months in American and French oak barrels. The wine was lightly filtered before bottling.

TASTING NOTES:

The 2013 Reserva Carmenère displays tremendous varietal character through its spice and black fruit flavors. A base of black plum aromas is accompanied by notes of black pepper, coffee, and cedar. The smooth round palate has great volume and pronounced flavors of chocolate and mocha lend complexity.
