

2010 BROKENWOOD HUNTER VALLEY SHIRAZ

Review Summary

BROKENWOOD

AUSTRALIAN CRAFT AT ITS FINEST

93 pts “Light to medium red-purple; ripe plum and blackberry fruit has the usual polished leather and earth lying underneath the surface; at this stage the oak is obvious, and needs to integrate over time.”

93 pts “This opaque dark ruby colored Shiraz opens with a very inviting blueberry bouquet with a hint of oak, smoke and blackberry. On the palate this wine is medium bodied, balanced smooth as silk, and juicy. The flavor profile is a delicious blueberry and blackberry blend with notes of gentle minerality and nicely integrated oak. The finish is dry and its refined tannins and smooth and very friendly. This wine is really impressive and would be perfect with a filet mignon. Enjoy and share with someone special.”

91 pts – CELLAR SELECTION “Ample vanilla notes from oak aging mark the nose and palate of this savory Shiraz. It’s on the full side for the Hunter, with a rich texture and a long, velvety finish.”

91 pts/Year’s Best Australian Shiraz “Black scents of anise follow through on the palate, where the wine gives a lasting impression of spicy licorice and rose. It’s an elegant take on a peppery shiraz, with bright and darker tones creating some youthful tension in the finish. Decant it for lamb, or hide the bottle for ten years in the cellars.”

91 pts “Opaque purple. Sexy, high-pitched aromas of dark berry preserves, Indian spices and violets, with a smoky topnote. Powerful but light on its feet, offering intense blackberry and bitter cherry flavors sweetened by a touch of vanilla. Shows impressive energy on the finish, which features lingering licorice and berry skin nuances. All of the fruits from Brokenwood's Graveyard vineyard are in this bottling.”

91 pts “Deep garnet-purple-colored, the 2010 Hunter Valley Shiraz has well defined notes of freshly crushed blackberries, black plums and cassis with hints of black pepper, cinnamon and toasty cedar. Medium-bodied with plenty of juicy blackberry flavors, it has a good foundation of crisp acid and medium to firm grainy tannins, finishing long and spicy.”

90+ pts “Medium-deep garnet in color with a hint of purple, the 2010 Shiraz presents aromas of black cherry compote, black raspberries and blackberry preserve with suggestions of pepper, anise and cloves. Medium-bodied and beautifully styled, it gives a good intensity of flavor framed by crisp acidity and a medium level of rounded tannins before finishing with good length.”
