

2010 KILIKANNOON MIRACLE HILL SHIRAZ

Review Summary

95+ pts “Very deep purple-black in color, the 2010 Miracle Hill Shiraz presents a classic McLaren Vale nose of blackberry preserves, chocolate box and licorice enveloped by hints of cloves, baking spices and mint. Full-bodied, rich and densely laden with ripe, seductive black fruit, the high level of velvety tannins imparts plenty of poise on the very long finish.”

94 pts “Big and bold, with firm tannins, this powerful Shiraz shows all the ingredients that point to excellent aging potential. Hints of toast and cracked pepper accent dark-berry aromas, while the flavors mix ripe fruit and intriguing spice notes. The finish is marked by espresso, firm tannins and terrific length.”

93 pts “Impenetrable color; a dark and brooding bouquet simply loaded with black fruits, mocha, charry oak and fresh tar; the palate is dense, dark, muscular and very tannic, impressive in its concentration certainly, and certain to please for its power.”

90 pts “A bit of grit weaves through the deep flavors of ripe plum and coffee in this firm Shiraz, but that smoothes out quickly and the wine finishes with intensity.”
