

2009 KILIKANOON PRODIGAL GRENACHE

Review Summary

92 pts “Good color; a vibrant and lively Grenache, with the accent on red berry fruit, not Turkish delight, and the medium-bodied palate has good structure and length.”

92 pts “Opaque ruby purple. Aromas of black cherry, loam and white baking spice. Ripe and flavorful on the palate with layers of dark red fruit, chocolate and sweet oak. Aged 22 months in French and American oak. Soft and velvet smooth with round firm tannins and a long pleasant finish. Sourced in equal parts from two 60 year old hand pruned and handpicked vineyards. Elegant and refined.”

90+ pts “Medium-deep garnet-purple in color, the 2009 Prodigal Grenache displays black raspberries and warm cranberries on the nose with hints of mulberries, allspice and damp loam. The spiciness comes through on the full bodied mouth with a good amount of warm raspberry flavor supported by refreshing acid and a medium level of velvety tannins, finishing long and spicy. Drink this one now to 2018.”

90 pts “Vivid ruby-red. High-pitched aromas of raspberry, cherry and fresh rose, with complicating notes of allspice and licorice. Juicy and seamless on the palate, offering sweet red fruit flavors that put on weight with air. Smooth and broad on the finish, which features attractive floral pastille and fruitcake qualities. This wine is very approachable now.”
