

2014 BROKENWOOD BEECHWORTH PINOT NOIR

Review Summary

BROKENWOOD

AUSTRALIAN CRAFT AT ITS FINEST

90 pts “The color suggests the wine will develop reasonably quickly, and the bouquet and palate lend weight to that idea with savory, sappy characters on the long palate; there are sufficient fruit notes to give pleasure now and over the next few years...”

James Halliday
Australian Wine Companion
2017

90 pts “Light, bright red. Extremely fragrant and spicy on the nose, displaying vibrant cherry and raspberry scents with hints of potpourri and white pepper. Silky and precise in the mouth, offering tangy, refreshingly bitter-edged red fruit and floral pastille flavors. Closes firm and long, with a touch of smokiness and supple, late-arriving tannins.”

Josh Reynolds
Vinous
March 2016

89 pts “This is a fine, crisp wine for early drinking. Lacy floral and cherry aromas lead the way, followed by tart flavors reminiscent of berry zinger tea.”

Joe Czerwinski
Wine Enthusiast
December 2015

88 pts “A distinctive lemony note weaves through the cherry and spice flavors, coming together smoothly on the lithe, generous finish, lingering well.”

Harvey Steiman
WineSpectator.com
2015