VINEYARD :

The vineyard of Domaine de Nizas lies in a triangle between the towns of Pézenas, Caux and Nizas and also between two lava spurs that form a natural amphitheater which protects against extreme weather. Surrounded by Garrigue (the local countryside's abundant wild herbs) the vineyard is a unique mosaic of three deep, well-draining soil types. River pebbles (Villafranchian) impart freshness and fine tannins. Limestone creates powerful wines with red fruit aromas. Basalt soils result in wines with complex aromas and elegant structure and this wine is named for them: 'les terres noires' translates to 'the black earth' in English. Ever mindful of the importance of having a long-term view, Domaine de Nizas' vineyard has been certified sustainable since 2007.

WINEMAKING :

The grapes were immediately transported to the winery and gently de-stemmed. The fruit was then softly pressed and each lot carefully separated. The Vermentino and Viognier juice was fermented at low temperatures in stainless steel tanks to retain varietal freshness. The Roussanne was fermented in seasoned French oak. Following fermentation, the wine in oak underwent regular lees stirring for eight months to build texture and palate weight.

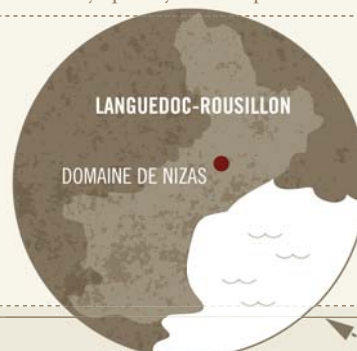

TASTING NOTES :

This is a surprisingly expressive southern French white wine that embodies the Nizas style of balance and elegance. It is beautiful pale yellow in color with golden tints. On the nose, there are pronounced aromas of citrus, white peach and wild fennel. The fruit-driven palate is round and balanced expressing all of its complex flavors through a lingering finish.

ABOUT DOMAINE DE NIZAS :

Located near the medieval village of Pézenas in the heart of the Languedoc region, Domaine de Nizas was created in 1998, by John Goelet, an American descendant of a family of Bordeaux wine merchants. He then gave Bernard Portet, of Clos du Val fame, the mission of selecting the most promising terroirs around Pézenas (and the world) to establish the Estate. Portet acquired individual plots that represented three different soil types ultimately creating a rich and diverse source of grapes for crafting artisanal wines of extraordinary quality and depth.
