

2014 YERINGBERG
PINOT NOIR
Review Summary

94 pts “This pinot has a more blueberry-perfumed streak to it, as well as rhubarb fool, citrus, ash and dried nutmeg. The palate shows a lot of depth and complexity on the palate, while remaining really in tune with punchy acidity and structured tannins.”

Nick Stock
JamesSuckling.com
August 14, 2018

94 pts “Deeply colored, its roots grown in the very low yield across southern Victoria (small bunches, small berries), and in the winery, where the decision was to let the wine speak for itself. Thus it is full-bodied in pinot terms, the fruits purple and black, not red. Prolonged cellaring is on offer for those with the patience needed.”

James Halliday
Australian Wine Companion
2018