

2016 CULLEN WINES
KEVIN JOHN CHARDONNAY
Review Summary

96 pts “Bright straw-green; in best Cullen style, a wine that balances richness and complexity with freshness. The flavors focus on white peach, nectarine and fig, with creamy notes offset by citrusy acidity, and the new French oak integrated.”

95 pts “Medium-gold in color, this wine takes a little time in the glass to open up, but when it does you can’t stop smelling it. Delicate aromas of grapefruit, pear, apple, cashew and brine are sewn together on the nose and carry to the palate alongside buttered toast and toffee flavors from barrel influence. The palate is silky, slinking seamlessly along a saline spine of oyster shells, toast and citrus, with a delicate line of acidity.”
