

2016 YERINGBERG CHARDONNAY

Review Summary

95 pts “Always a flavorsome, fuller-bodied chardonnay with stone fruit, figs and leesy, creamy notes. Yet it keeps a well-formed frame with bright acidity helping.”

James Halliday
Halliday Wine Companion
2019

94 pts “Another very exotic white from Yeringberg, which remains focused and dialed-in. Dried pineapple is the main attraction on the nose, as well as apple pastries, red grapefruit, passion fruit and praline. An acutely smoky undertone, too. Round and opulent on the palate, but it is still very much in check. This is all thanks to a refreshing layer of acidity through the mid-palate, carrying this long through the finish.”

Nick Stock
JamesSuckling.com
August 14, 2018

93 pts “Hints of roasted cashew accent lemon-curd notes on the nose of the 2016 Chardonnay. Like the propriety red blend, Yeringberg’s Chardonnay isn’t about mass, weight or extraction but balance, elegance and finesse. It’s silky textured and medium-bodied, with lemon, pineapple and white nectarine notes that easily weave in and out, linking together around a resilient spine of acidity.”

Joe Czerwinski
Robert Parker Wine Advocate
June 2018

91 pts “Precise, with lemon curd, guava and white peach flavors at the core, and grace notes of spice, fennel and brioche lingering in the background on a smooth, sleek and juicy frame.”

MaryAnn Worobiec
WineSpectator.com
2019