

2019 JOHN DUVAL WINES PLEXUS SGM

Review Summary

95 pts “Deep to almost opaque purple color with a brightness in the rim. A nose of licorice, plum liqueur and black loam. The palate is a studied expression of velvet. No edges or corners at all. Rich and flowing from front to back with gentle precision. Goes long and lingers even longer.”

Stuart Knox
The Real Review
March 3, 2021

92 pts “Perfumed, with elegant notes of plumeria and violet that add an aromatic lift to the core of savory toasted herb, tobacco, loam and cola notes. This has appealing velvety tannins and plenty of harmony on the finish. Shiraz, Grenache and Mourvèdre. Drink now through 2035.”

MaryAnn Worobiec
Wine Spectator
October 20, 2022

92 pts “This has a red-plum and blackberry mix on the nose and palate with a gently herbal edge and orange peel. Medium body, plenty of rich red-fruit flavor and a smooth, pastry-like tannin texture. A blend of 45% shiraz, 32% grenache and 23% mourvedre.”

Nick Stock
JamesSuckling.com
October 19, 2021

91 pts “This has a red-plum and blackberry mix on the nose and palate with a gently herbal edge and orange peel. Medium body, plenty of rich red-fruit flavor and a smooth, pastry-like tannin texture. A blend of 45% shiraz, 32% grenache and 23% mourvedre.” James Halliday

Halliday Wine Companion
April 26, 2022