

2017 d'ARENBERG THE DRY DAM

Review Summary

90 pts “Textbook notes of green apples and limes abound in d’Arenberg’s 2017 The Dry Dam Riesling. Medium-bodied and off-dry (17 grams per liter of residual sugar), it’s quite tight and lean through the palate and onto the chalky finish.”

90 pts “This is an off-dry Riesling from McLaren Vale and the Adelaide Hills (fairly unusual regions to find this variety). The small amount of residual sugar left in the wine is a welcome balance to the lofty levels of acidity, and elevates the charm factor of those lime, grapefruit, apple-blossom and wet stone notes.”

89 pts “Sweet and tart but the concentration of flavor is impressive. Turkish delight, lemon and lime flavors get the job done.”
