

2018 MAISON L'ENVOYÉ MOULIN-à-VENT

Review Summary

90 pts “The 2018 Moulin-à-Vent Terre de Thé is showing very well, bursting with aromas of raspberries, plums, cherries and licorice. Medium to full-bodied, elegantly fleshy and charming, it’s supple and succulent, built around powdery tannins and juicy acids.”

William Kelley
Robert Parker Wine Advocate
October 15, 2020

88 pts/BEST BUY “This is soft and gentle, with light, persistent tannins. It has a dark earthiness, like black mission figs and black plums, the fruit a touch syrupy but tightened into a clean finish by the tannins.”

Joshua Greene
Wine & Spirits Magazine
October 2020

88 pts/TOP VALUE “Blackberry and dried currant notes have a savory-driven edge with dried herb, savory spice and leather accents. Elements of anise, mocha and black tea linger through the lightly tannic finish.”

Gillian Sciaretta
Wine Spectator
December 31, 2020