

2020 LEEUWIN ESTATE ART SERIES RIESLING

Review Summary

94 pts “Margaret River makes a tiny amount of riesling. It’s beautiful though, and quite different from the Great Southern and South Australian examples. Lime blossom, coriander, hints of lychee and spring blossom. Galangal, kaffir leaf. The Indian Ocean makes a briny impact on the juicy acidity. Sesame seed. Green apple and talc. Incredibly pretty and bright, but soft, too. This has precision, but not a retina-burning laser like Great Southern iterations. Plushness and plumpness is the order of the day. Low yields, small bunches and small berries. Supple. Subtle.”

94 pts “A beautifully pure and intensely flavoured riesling that shows what you can do with this variety in Margaret River in a very good year. It was fast and furious but the quality, if not the quantity, was outstanding. Talc lemon zest with a tight core. A degree of tension through the palate but there are appealing fruit characters. Quite a textured riesling but still with a fine acidity to provide a precise long finish.”

92 pts “Pale lemon-lime colour in the glass. Grapefruit and lemongrass aromas. The palate is bright and fresh, simple lemon fruits but matched to a distinct saline minerality creates interest. All the while a well-handled acidity keeps the palate flowing with focus and good length.”

90 pts "...Roasted lime aromas and saline notes throughout the textural palate which has a certain roundness, with notes of lime flower, sorrel, kaffir lime and lime cordial. Bone dry, with a piercing, steely backbone of grapefruit acidity and an austere finish."
