

2022 DEVIL'S CORNER CHARDONNAY

Review Summary

Devil's Corner

93 pts “Plump melon, kiwi and citrus aromas are cushioned by more lactic and saline nuances. Vibrant acidity rides a slippery textured wave - the toast elements in its wake. Balanced, with length and poise, this is approachable now but could age for several more years.”

89 pts “Sleek and crisp, with mouthwatering apple, yuzu and lime flavors, plus accents of sea salt and toasted herbs that linger on the mouthwatering finish. Drink now.”

“If you’re whipping up Tasmania’s East Coast, you should pop into the excellent Devil’s Corner cellar door, looking out over the water towards Freycinet National Park. It’s a great little spot. Can’t make it? Grab a bottle of this and have a planning session. Crisp, supple and slinky with plenty of stone and citrus fruits, soft spice and hints of nougat, white flowers, crème fraîche and stony notes at a solid price. A solid quaffing chardonnay.”
